Endeavour lands at Edwards

The 14th Shuttle mission to the International Space Station came to a close Wednesday when Space Shuttle Endeavour landed at 12:58 p.m. CDT at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. Endeavour's landing also marked the end of the record-setting 196 days in space for U.S. astronauts Carl Walz and Dan Bursch. The previous record was 188 days in space for a U.S. astronaut. With this mission, STS-111 astronaut Franklin Chang-D'az also became only the second human to launch into space seven times.
